Senate Chooses Bill Whiting To Direct Annual Gum Shoe Hop Production

The Student Senate announced Monday that Bill Whiting, a Junior English major from Watkins Glen, N. Y., has been appointed Director of the Gum Shoe Hop for 1955. Bill, author of the script, will work with Jim Joliff, Assistant Director. The Senate also stipulated that, in the future, the author will automatically get first chance at the directorship of his play, if he should so desire.

Journal Publishes Article By Bob Huff

Bob Huff is the author of an article in the November issue of the American Journal of Physics. The paper is a contribution to his senior independent study and is titled "A Slide Rule Solution of Certain Exponential Equations."

In his paper Mr. Huff showed how certain exponential equations could be solved in a fraction of the time that it formerly took by using a log-log slide rule instead of the repeated numerical approximation which was the method that had been used.

Bob, a physics major, was one of four Ohio students who won recognition in the Westinghouse annual science talent hunt of 1951. He was valedictorian of his class at McKinley High School in Canton and won a four-year, full tuition scholarship in a senior psychological exam for Ohio high school students. At Wooster he has been awarded the Joseph Albertus Culler prize in physics for 1955.

Four years ago Mr. Huff was named the outstanding newspaper boy in Canton and Ohio. He delivered the Canton Repository.

Henry Little Speaks For DBS Monday

Dr. Henry Little will be the speaker at the David Brainard Society meeting on Monday, January 17. His topic will be The Changing Aspects of a Missionary. Dr. Little received his B.A. at Amherst and his M.A. at Princeton. After a 15-year pastorate at St. Louis he became the Executive Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., in Chicago.

The Senate also decided to have faculty-evaluation sheets available which are to be handed out at the end of the semester. Evaluation sheets will also be available in the Senate room for those who care to use them. Study habit books will be made available during the next few days. They will cost 30 cents apiece and there will be 150 books put on sale for student purchase.

In other business, Keith Kennedy was elected Book Discussion Chairman. Keith, a sophomore from Dayton, Ohio, is also business manager of Pembroke magazine. The treasury announced a balance of $251.30. The meeting was held in the Board of Directors' room and was one of the longest of the year, lasting from 8:30 to 11 p.m.

Directors Make Selection Of Cast To Abuse Muse

Selection of cast for the Gum Shoe Hop, to be presented in Scott Auditorium on February 23, 24, 25, and 26, has been made. This fantasy, entitled The Muse Abused, has a cast of 19. Taking the role of Frederick the Great will be Jim Joliff. Scott Craig will have the part of Johann Sebastian Bach. Voltaire will be played by John Muir, while Bob Seaman will be cast as Goethe. With Jan Bayer as Ensilage, Mary Haupt as Marguerite, and Ed Moore as Francois, the leading roles are complete. Also included in the cast are Gail Bond, Nancy Schneider, Charlotte Weigand, Alice Kresensky, Bob Barnard, Judy Chapman, Jean Herbert, Gerry Messina, Louise Elder, Pat Kressly, Jan Douglas, and Howard Leister.

Loretta Conrad, composer of the 12 songs in the Hop, and Anne Mayer will accompany the cast. Technical director is Jim Loehlin. Choreography will be done by Anne Johnson.

Anne Kelso issues Dr. Hauge blue books at Maintenance, insuring his students unhappiness in the near future.

Seniors Lose Veep; Classes Plan Events

At their meeting last Monday, the seniors received the resignation of their vice-president, George Dawkins, who has been drafted into the army. Bud Barta, who was second in the preferential ballot for vice-president, will be the acting vice-president for the rest of the year. The seniors presented George with a wallet as a farewell present.

Byron Morris, as chairman of the class gift committee, is asking professors of various departments to make suggestions of gifts that the senior class might give to the college.

Other plans held by the seniors are those concerning commencement, the prom, which is to be held on June 9, the alumni dance, and possibly a class picnic.

The junior class plans to have a benefit movie sometime in March

This Saturday night the movie "Oliver Twist" starring Alex Guinness will be shown in Scott Auditorium from 7-9. Next week, January 21, Susan Hayward will star as Jane Froman in "With a Song in My Heart."

and a class picnic after comprehensives. Although nothing definite has yet been planned by the sophomores, they will discuss possible activities at a meeting which will be held at the beginning of second semester.

March 11 is the date which has been reserved by the freshmen for their next social function.

COMING ELECTION WILL SHOW THAT IT'S A WOMAN'S WORLD

French Students Hold Celebration

French-speaking students attended a banquet at Babcock on Tuesday, January 11, to celebrate the "Feast of the Kings".

The feature of the evening was the crowning of a king and queen. Nancy Mohr became queen when she found a small doll in her piece of cake. She then chose Mr. Bradford as her king and the ceremony reached a climax when they entwined arms to drink goblets of milk in the Mendes France manner.

Francoise Mazet and Nancy Mohr continued the festivities with a lesson in phonetics; Sally Anthony gave a record pantomime, "Le Francais sans Peine"; "The Two Milords" was read by Mr. Bradford; Marlene Fray sang "La Vie En Rose"; and Demi Takeshita finished with a dance.

Miss Guille then announced that the true king and queen of the evening were Professor and Mrs. John Olthouse who will continue their reign always.

Mr. Olthouse spoke and the evening ended when Francoise Mazet led everyone in a dance in front of Babcock.

Young Democrats Hear Tom Burke

The Honorable Thomas A. Burke, former United States Senator, will speak at an open meeting of the Young Democrats on Monday night, in Douglass lounge, at 7:30 p.m.

A native of Cleveland, Mr. Burke attended Holy Cross University and the law school of Western Reserve. In 1923, following the completion of his legal training, Burke began to practice law in Cleveland. His first venture into the political field was as assistant prosecutor of Cuyahoga county. In 1937, he served as a special assistant to the Attorney General of Ohio.

Succeeded Lausche

Burke's prominence on the Cleveland political scene began with his appointment as city law director under Frank Lausche, the Mayor at that time. When Lausche was elected Governor of Ohio, Burke succeeded him as mayor of Cleveland and has the distinction of being the longest-term mayor in the city's history (1945-1953).

Upon the death of Senator Taft, Governor Lausche appointed Mr. Burke to the United States Senate to serve until the next general election. Burke failed in his bid for election to the Senate last November in a very close race with George Bender.

Mr. Burke's appearance is co-sponsored by the Institute of Politics.

Ferm Writes Book

Dictionary of Pastoral Psychology by Vergilius Ferm has just been published. The field of Pastoral Psychology is an offspring of the parent Psychology of Religion. Dr. Ferm, head of the Philosophy Department, has taught a course in psychology of religion for a quarter of a century. His first novel, Their Day Was Yesterday, was published last year.

Don't Crib; Cram

by Molly Duffell

That frantic fortnight is fast approaching, when all of us will have to indulge in our twice-a-year occupation of studying. Unfortunately, there seems to be no way to avoid exam week except by premature suicide, and this is not very nice behavior toward the roommate who is left to clean up the blood. It therefore seems wise to offer a few suggestions which we will entitle "How to Live Through Exam Week," or "You Don't Need a Crib if You Cram."

This questionnaire will tell you whether you need advice on the techniques of studying. Please write all answers on a separate sheet of paper:

1. Do you have a name? Why?
2. Short answer or fill-in-the-blanks?
3. Would you be discouraged if someone asked you whether your mawkish impressibility was the intrinsic derivative of your superfluous exertion in inscribing a semicolon on a diptych?
4. Why is textbook?
5. Blood, sweat, toil, or tears?

(Note: Do not attempt to answer any question more than once; extra points will be deducted for use of the multiple-guess technique.)

Now, if you have answered any of the above questions, you need help in learning to study; if your answer sheet is blank, transfer immediately and do not attempt to read any farther.

These hints on preparing for a test are the result of three decades of study by the Committee on Improving Student Morale Before Entering the Classroom, the chairman of which was the renowned Phineus J. Kropotnik, D.D.T., T.V.A., F.D.R., W.W.S.T., failed B.A., etc.

Suggestion No. 1: Make out an exacting and rigid study schedule. This will occupy several hours of time during which you would otherwise be studying, refresh your memory of elementary addition 101, and make a nice decoration for your bulletin board. You need not follow the schedule.

Suggestion No. 2: Collect a reasonable fund of money. This is most easily done by cleaning out your roommate's pockets or stealing from the SCC fund. It is a prerogative of Suggestion Five.

Suggestion No. 5: Make an accurate list of all the movies that will be in town during exam week and plan to see each one at least three times.

Suggestion No. 6: Burn your books.

If this list does not enable you to finish the semester with an easy conscience about your lack of exam preparation, come to the VOICE office where the revised edition of "Clever Crib Sheets" is now available at the low price of L5 3s. 6d. (Proceeds will go to the Faculty Club.)

SCOTTS TAPE

by SHEILA McISAAC

This is a rather busy week. History papers are due, language professors are bravely trying to give exams, and a few million organizations are holding meetings. Of course it would never do not to have an issue of the VOICE, so amidst all this activity I must sit down and pound out a few words of wisdom on my trusty typewriter.

The biggest event of the week to many women political science majors was the opening of Congressional Club meetings to observers. Now you probably want to know how many of them actually turned up. Hmm, I'll let you guess. The meeting was held Thursday night, when Ron Buckalew presented the thesis on the recent Supreme Court segregation decision, which Blake Moore refuted.

Dr. Hans Jenny (you know, the one with the TAN) addressed THE Corporation Wednesday night on "Capitalism and All That." I don't know what "all that" is, but I'm glad we have it.

Thursday evening the German Club met in the SCC Room. Ina Jeska, German conversation assistant, spoke to the club. The Sociology Club also met Thursday, at Mr. Barrett's home. James Miller, a Wooster alumnus, spoke about the work of Alcoholics Anonymous in Wooster.

The Third Section Pledge party will be held at 8:30 tonight in Lower Babcock. The record dance, whose chairman is Bill Jennings, has for its theme, "Glenn Miller." Helping Bill are Andy Polt, decoration chairman; Bob Douglass, refreshment chairman; and Tom McCullough, entertainment chairman.

Tomorrow night is the Sophomore-Junior Formal. The dance will feature Harry Woodfield's band and intermission refreshments in Andrews Hall. We'll see you in the gym at 9. Incidentally, if you didn't sign the list for late permissions, you may still get a 12:30 by paying a quarter in the Dean's office.

Sunday night Rev. James Blackwood will install the new officers of UCF.

I guess this is all I have to say. Now back to the books, sob!

A New Look At Evaluation Sheets

To the Editor of the VOICE:

Evaluation seems to be the key-note of this academic year. The faculty and administration have added a thorough evaluation program to their already heavy burden by forming special committees to investigate various phases of our academic and extra-curricular programs.

Interest and enthusiasm for evaluating our academic courses is not new to many of us. For several years the Student Senate in co-operation with the SFRC has administered a faculty evaluation program by the students. Under this program, evaluation sheets are distributed to the individual faculty members who in turn distribute them to the students in their classes. The program is for the benefit of the professor and is to supply students with a direct constructive channel for their suggestions. Many faculty members have found some of these suggestions to be very valuable, not only in pointing out better techniques of presenting the course material, but also in seeing more clearly where a change in emphasis could make the course more meaningful and valuable. As students we do not pretend to know the perfect way to teach a class or to present material. Neither do we feel that a class hour must be entertaining. The process of learning is not easy and perhaps the problems of teaching are even more difficult. We do feel, however, that after having participated in a course for a semester or two, we are often able to offer to the professor constructive comments and suggestions on that course. The faculty evaluation sheets are for this purpose.

Our major concern is that although every faculty member receives a quantity of these evaluation sheets, too few make use of them. Why is this?

The faculty asks for our cooperation in their study of the under-class program. They obviously feel that our opinion will be of some help to them in this study. If this is true, then why do some individual faculty members refuse the students this same opportunity when it comes to their particular courses? It would seem that these individual faculty members refuse to accept our judgment and opinion as being of any value. This is certainly their privilege.

Granted, some take advantage of this opportunity to unnecessarily criticize and degrade the class and the professor. Perhaps they don't appreciate the amount of training, preparation, and hard work that goes into a course or maybe their primary interest is an easy grade. We hope that those of us who do this are few and far between, and we are sure that the faculty can easily weed opinions like these from carefully thought out, sincere contributions.

We suggest that those professors who haven't participated in the evaluation program take a few minutes of their class time this next week to distribute the questionnaires. The time will be well spent. It will give them an idea of what the students feel about their course and teaching methods, and even if they don't agree with some of the comments they may find themselves interested in some of the better suggestions.

This semester the Senate has decided to make a quantity of faculty evaluations available in the Senate Room. This is to give those students whose professors do not hand out the sheets a chance to submit an evaluation. The sheets will be handed to the professor by the interested student and the professor will, of course, do with them as he sees fit. This is in no way meant to supersede the system of having the professor handle the evaluations in class. The Senate merely felt that this would allow those students who so wished to use the program and could possibly arouse the interest of their professors.

The ideal behind our faculty evaluation is to offer constructive suggestions to our faculty in order to make our courses more valuable to all concerned. There is nothing that we would rather do than to fill in the evaluation sheets with nothing but comments of praise.

Penelope's Shroud

To the Editor of the VOICE:

Concerning my last stand on our current social problem, I feel I must attempt to restate my much mis-interpreted letter to the Men's Association.

Primarily, admittance into the college does not and should not coincide with acceptance into one of our eight sections. My opinion remains firm: that any section, after an intelligent and ethical study of a candidate, can conclude that he is not the type of boy with whom they wish to associate, and has every right to forbid him entrance into the fellowship.

The problem arises when the sections do not have an intelligent and ethical motive for not admitting a boy to the advantages of section life, and allow an inconsiderate minority to wield the whip. This is wrong—all wrong.

I proposed a "written blackball system" whereby the consensus of opinion about a candidate could be intelligently stated with valid reasoning. I felt that through the administration and advisory bodies, and an executive committee of the section members themselves, a counseling program could be established where the information on the written blackball could be used to help the non-accepted student find a place in campus life.

Sincerely,
Charles Navle

Debaters Prepare For Tournaments

Representing Wooster at the Northeastern Ohio Debate Conference Legislative Association are Virg Musser, Bob Duke, and Don Howland. The conference, which is meeting this week end at Oberlin College, has as its theme, "How Can America Meet Its Educational Responsibilities?"

Next on the agenda for the debate seminar will be a freshman debate tournament which will be held at Purdue University in West Lafayette, Ind., on February 11 and 12. The delegates for this will be chosen through try-outs and competition during the first week of February.

On February 12, the varsity debaters will travel to Kent State to debate the topic, "Resolved that the United States should extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China."

Religion Is Theme Of Next Art Exhibit

by Louise Byers

During the week of February 6, religion is to be the campus-wide theme, and very appropriately, "Religion as the Printmaker's Theme" is to be the exhibit in the Josephine Long Wishart Museum of Art. Included in the 67 works by artists of 15 countries will be the finest in contemporary print-making.

Among the prints of particular interest will be a woodcut, Cain and Abel, by Charles Burchfield, an American; a color aquatint, Crucifixion, by Georges Rouault, a Frenchman; an etching, Christ on the Cross, by Salvador Dali, a Spaniard; and an etching, So-lome, by Pablo Picasso, also Spanish.

The exhibit, which will be shown from February 4 to March 1, will be of special interest as it includes all the major print-making styles and techniques. It was collected at the Cincinnati Art Museum from the Sloniker Collection and is circulating under the auspices of the American Federation of Arts. Jackie Jewett and Marilyn Roth are in charge of hanging the exhibit.

Senate Names Five To FCC Committee

The Student Senate at its Monday evening meeting appointed members to the Four College Conference Committee. John Rose and Marge Yoder will serve until the end of the second semester. Pete Crosby, Edith Powers, and Bob Schubert will serve until January, 1956. Also members of the committee are Betty Ann Ellis, Four College Coordinator, and Sheila Melsaac, her assistant. Dr. J. Arthur Baird and Dr. Eugene S. Hauge are the faculty advisers.

Members of the Four College Conference are Denison University, Oberlin College, Ohio Wesleyan University, and the College of Wooster. The Conference was designed to promote contact and exchange ideas among students of the member colleges.

Every year the Conference sponsors two meetings, one of which is a Mock UN General Assembly. This year the Assembly is being held at Oberlin, March 12. Among questions that will be discussed are that of the Arab-Israeli conflict and admittance of new members to the UN. Wooster will represent the USSR and 14 other nations; Oberlin will send the United States delegation; Denison, France's, and Wesleyan, Great Britain. Blocs of lesser nations have also been assigned to these colleges.

Delegation chairmen from Wooster will be appointed soon, and lists will be posted for students to choose the countries they wish to represent.

To Debussy

by Bill Whiting

A starlit night as seen atop a hill
With clouds of white that cross
a paling moon
Is caught in tones of beauty's shimmering chill,
And distant echoes from the lonely loon
Are heard in accents soft, and plaintive, low.
In mists of sounds and swirls of liquid dreams
Debussy takes us through a land of woe
Where Melisande's hair in darkness gleams.

"What is the use," the old ones say, "of just Vague notions set to random chords of sound
To celebrate the blossoms in the dust?
Let us have meaning music: solid ground."
So listen, you adherers to the old:
The larger thing, when poured,
will break the mold.

We Need To Be Informed

To the Editor of the VOICE:

We are disturbed. Our concern arises out of a new awareness acquired while participating in the National Student Assembly of the YM-YWCA held at the University of Kansas during the recent vacation. This awareness pertains to the situation in which we find ourselves and in which we see those about us.

To begin with, we recognize that all of us need to be informed. We seem to be afraid to scrutinize and wrestle with the problems and issues of our day, and to further fulfill the responsibility of the informed, i.e., to take a stand on the issues and to respond with action. Many of us channel all of our time and energies into studies and extra-curricular activities which are on the whole of a non-controversial nature, and which provide a ready rationalization when the challenge to study and act on campus, national, and world issues confronts us. We drown what concern we may feel in a flood of activity. Of course, we cannot and should not spend all or even most of our time pursuing the issues, but we should achieve a suitable balance.

Many at the Assembly felt disappointed and ashamed when they saw a great number of students (often themselves included) who could not make up their minds when called upon to take a definite stand on campus, national, and world issues. Again and again they confessed that they did not know enough about the problems to vote intelligently.

During the week we gained new insight about the problem of discrimination. As a result of our own life experiences, we ourselves believe that a more common variety of discrimination than that based on race, color, creed, sex, or national origin, is that based on physical appearance, dress, habits, lack of conformity in ideas and action. Such discrimination, often molded by a hasty majority opinion, does not allow the individual to become the kind of person he was created to be. Here, the primary motive of our behavior seems to be fear. We are afraid to think, speak, and act contrary to the majority. Instead of freely accepting others and respecting the worth of individuals and their opinions, we shackle our freedom with fear. What sense of responsibility we may possess is out-weighted by our ever-present desire for approval, an understandable, yet no less excusable, attitude.

Admittedly there were conditions existing at the Assembly which are not so present at Wooster, and which made the atmosphere more conducive to free thought and speech, more conducive to a spirit of acceptance. Our situation there had not had time to become static.

All of these conditions are not now, yet can become, present at Wooster. If our situation is static, it is because we have let it become so. Consequently, only we can change it.

If we are to be a responsible academic community, sensitive to the world in which we live, we must meet these challenges now.

Sincerely,

Ron Buckalew, Joy Hatfield, Sally Griffith,
Cynthia Kimber, Bruce Rigdon.

WHAT'S THIS?

For solution see paragraph below.

OBVIOUSLY, THE TITLE of the above Droodle is: 47 insectology students enjoying better-tasting Luckies while studying 3 fireflies. All kinds of students are bugs about Luckies. Matter of fact, college smokers prefer Luckies to all other brands—and by a wide margin—according to the latest and greatest of all college surveys. Once again, the No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. They taste better, first of all, because Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. Then, that tobacco is toasted to taste better. "It's Toasted"—the famous Lucky Strike process—tones up Luckies' light, good-tasting tobacco to make it taste even better . . . cleaner, fresher, smoother. So, enjoy the better-tasting cigarette . . . Lucky Strike.

WOOSTER VOICE SPORTS

Scots 'n Soda

by PAUL MARTIN

Americans like to tell the world about their great athletes, but here is one region where the crown rides elsewhere. John Landy, Australia's great miler, holds the world's record, a mere 3:58 for the distance. Roger Bannister, the English medical student who recently announced his retirement from the international sports scene, ran the second fastest mile with a time of 3:58.4.

Last week, America's lone hopes to the four minute mile virtually eliminated themselves in the New York Metropolitan AAU Indoor Track and Field Meet.

Fred Wilt won the classic mile race with a time of 4:16.2. Horace Ashenfelter was second. Already from behind the Iron Curtain there is talk of the great forthcoming Russian team. You can bet your boots that the Russkys will put the American runners right out of a job come the next Olympic games.

Laziness or Disinterest?

As long as we're in the department of gripes and groans, let's give a little thought to the coming track season. With the start of practice last week, Coach Carl Munson has only had 25 men report for practice. With the end of the swimming and basketball seasons, not more than a half dozen more runners are expected.

It doesn't seem quite feasible that a mere 5% or less of the Wooster student body should turn out for a major sport. Certainly there is more talent on the hill than this turnout indicates.

Both the Union and the Shack are filled during the late hours of the afternoon when a majority of these students could be out doing their school a little good. Instead they prefer to sit around and complain about why we didn't win this meet and why Wooster lost this game.

I just thought I'd mention it because there are quite a few varsity men around the campus who don't appreciate the perennial moaners. One week a team wins and they're great, but the next week they win by a narrow margin or else they lose and the groaners get on their necks.

If a few of these Know-It-Alls would get up and get the splinters out of their pants, Wooster's varsity sport program could be even better than the one that I and many others are so proud of right now.

Cage News

Tomorrow night the Scot basketball varsity travels to Cleveland where they take on the Rough Riders of Case Tech. For those of you who remember the thrilling game of last year, this is just a reminder that sparks will probably fly tomorrow night.

Jack Behringer's JV squad will take on the Case freshmen in the preliminary game which gets under way at 6:30 in the Cathedral Latin high school gym across the street from Case.

Tankers Host Oberlin

Tomorrow afternoon in the college pool the swimming team led by Coach Mel Riebe will play host to Oberlin's swimmers. It will be the first meeting of the two teams this year. Oberlin placed second in the Ohio Conference last year and the Scots finished a few points behind in fourth place.

Wooster Wins Sixth Of Seven Starts In Close Victory Over Raiders, 70-64

by Paul Martin

Held together by amazing accuracy from the free throw line and rebounding and drive given respectively by Gerry Smith and Bud Barta, the Scot cagers managed to stave off a game long fight by Mount Union to sneak by the Raiders with a score of 70-64.

The victory, Wooster's sixth in seven starts, was the second conference win. It was a very important game for the Scots as they remained, with Marietta and Akron, as one of the three undefeated teams in conference play.

The lifesaver of the game for the bedraggled victors was their crack at the free throw line. Using the 21 Mount Union personal fouls to good advantage, the host team garnered 24 of 35 shots. The Raiders did a much less efficient job as they only tallied 14 of 26 free throws.

At the close of the game when the tension was the highest, then it was Wooster's turn to show the largest home crowd of the year why they thought they deserved to win. Led by Captain Tom Gustin, the Scots dropped in seven straight free throws to insure the victory.

Rebounds Help

Also in the home team's favor was the rebounding which gave them possession of the ball throughout most of the second half. Gerry Smith led the winners with 24 rebounds out of the 64 for the Scots. Mount Union managed to snare the ball 44 times.

Three times in the first half and three times in the second, the score was tied. Neither team was ever able to pile up much of a lead. With the lead changing hands so rapidly, it was obvious that neither team was going to quit. Mount Union offered a short rally by Jim Nace with two minutes to go and at the half, the visitors led 40-36.

After the whistle opening the second half, it took the Scots a mere three minutes to tie the score at 46-46. The score was then knotted at 52-52 and 56-56.

Mount Gains

Mount managed to pull ahead 58-56 with five minutes to play and then Tom Gustin dropped in a foul shot and Bud Barta sank one of his five long field goals. The Scots edged into a 59-58 lead.

Bill Demyanovich then drove under the bucket and sank two points to put Mount in the lead 60-59. Gustin then tipped in a rebound for Wooster to put the black and gold in front 61-60. Before the staggered visitors could collect themselves, the Scots had scored seven straight foul shots and had the game all wrapped up.

A long fielder at the gun was not enough to stem the tide as the final score read 70-64.

Third held a two-point edge at intermission, 15-13, and scored 31 points to First's 32 markers in the final half to win by the lone point. John Tunison topped Third's scorers with 14 points and Ed Moore and Paul Davies hooped 13 and 11 markers respectively to aid the Rabbis' cause. Dave Lewis hit for 15 points and Jim Gwynne had 14 to spark the losers.

Second Round Opens

The second round of the intramural basketball league got underway last week with Fifth, Eighth, and Sixth posting important victories in their initial games.

Fifth scored 32 big points in the first half to lead Seventh by 16, 32-16, at half time, after which they hit for 32 markers to the Tri Kaps 19 for their 66-35 win. Dick Baragry led the Phi Deltis with 17 points while Bob Rafos, Ace Hole, and Dick Milligan counted for 14, 11, and 10 markers respectively. Bernie Davis topped the Tri Kaps with nine points.

Eighth Wins

Leading 26-24 at half time, Eighth hit for 34 points to Third's 23 to beat the Rabbis, 65-51. Buzz Salyer had a great day while scoring 11 field goals and three foul shots for 25 points to top Eighth's point makers. Dick Stevic followed closely with 21 markers while Dan Collins garnered 17. John Tunison led Third with 29 points while Ed Moore and Hoof Vandersall hit for 12 and 10 respectively.

Sixth had a hot day on the hardwoods as they beat First, 80-37. Ralph Ely headed Sixth's scorers with 11 field goals and one foul shot for 23 points. Fred Myerhoffer also did his part with 16 points as did Bill Wright and Jim Jolliff with 12 apiece. Dave Lewis was high for the losers with 11 points.

Tom Justice again led the frosh in total points as he was the only Scot to break into the double figures with 26 points. Going into an early lead, the reserve team piled up a 32-13 edge at the half-way mark.

Lead Early

After a short four and one half minutes of playing time had elapsed, Wooster led 14-3. Nine minutes later, the visitors called time out as they fell behind 29-13.

Going into the final quarter of play, the Scots held a safe 50-27 lead. Edwards was the high scorer for Mount as he tallied 12 markers.

This week the JV squad will make two trips with the varsity as they travel to Kenyon on Wednesday and then to Cleveland on Saturday where they meet the Rough Riders of Case Tech. Wooster JV 57

WAA Sponsors Co-Rec Evening

The basketball tournament started Monday night. There are two leagues: one—Bowman, Nell Kinkaid's Kids, Sphinx, Trumps and Westminster; two—Hilltoppers, Kez, Left-Overs, Hoover Hotshots and Peanuts.

Monday night found the Trumps vs. Nell Kinkaid's Kids, Sphinx vs. Bowman and Hilltoppers vs. Kez. Rosetta Wherley, manager, asked that if a team is not able to play to notify her at least a day in advance. Every team will play four games, and the winner of League I will play the winner of League II. The winner of this game will play the All-Stars.

Co-Rec Night

Tennis anyone?? No, but there will be badminton, bridge, ping pong, swimming, volleyball, and dancing, both round and square, tonight in Severance Gym from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. The occasion for all this activity is the yearly Co-Rec Night sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association, (WAA that is). Everyone is invited to "take a break" from studying and drop in at the gym, with date or not. Besides other attractions there will be a door prize for the section and club with the highest attendance. This may not be the Gum Shoe Hop, but the WAA strongly recommends the wearing of tennis shoes on the gym floor.

Time table for the evening is as follows: 7:30 to 9:30, badminton, bridge, ping pong, swimming and volleyball; 9:30 to 11, dancing in the gym.

WAA chairman for the event is Fay Marker.

Scots Tie For First Position In OC; Win Third Straight From Wittenberg

by Paul Martin

With a commanding 32-19 lead at half-time which they had piled up, Wooster's cagers pulled another one out of the fire, 60-56, last Monday night at Wittenberg. The Lutherans put up a withering barrage at the nets but were unable to catch the fleet Scots. And once again Mose Hole's amazing cagers returned with another victory under their belts — this one a third straight Ohio Conference win — leaving them undefeated with Akron and Marietta.

Topping the field in total points was Jack Hawken of Wittenberg who dropped in 24. Only one other of the Lutherans broke into the double figures as their rally was for the most part a one-man effort. Once more for the rampaging Scots it was the bespectacled Bud Barta who led the attack. The driving senior, who tallied 16 points, was followed by sophomores Dick Garcia and Gerry Smith who each netted 14 markers.

Top Average

After this victory, the statistics showed that the Scots hit on 22 fielders out of 58 attempts for a 37.8 per cent. This is slightly above their season average. The host team sank only 19 field goals of 82 shots.

From the free throw line, the Scots 16 of 28 on 16 Wittenberg personals. The home team made 12 of 22 on 14 Scot fouls.

Gerry Smith once again led the team in rebounds as he snatched 19 out of the Scots' 42 from the boards. Wittenberg pulled in 31 rebounds.

The game started very slowly as the Scots were unable to garner a single point in the first seven minutes of play. At the end of this time the Lutherans only led 4-0. Mose Hole had started his tallest team and it was as this point that he replaced Chet Welty and Dick Barrett with George Kim and Dick Garcia.

Scots Pull Ahead

The score began to move a little as the count was knotted three times before the Scots pulled away. After nine minutes of play the visitors were leading 13-8. Kim then sank two free throws and Wittenberg tied the score on a fielder and five free throws.

With four minutes to play, Wooster was leading 21-15. With Gustin, Kim and Smith scoring three foul shots, Smith added a fielder to move the count to 32-19 at the half.

With 46 seconds to play, the score stood at 56-54. Barta's two free throws were matched by Reiser and the score read 58-56. Welty and Garcia missed the clinching free throws but Barta was fouled at the gun and he calmly sank two points which were no longer needed but added assurance. ## Sections' Dual Function Is Problem

To the Editor of the VOICE:

Recent events in the MA have indicated the awkward position which the sections occupy. This position is in reality a complication of two functions. First, the sections are selective social organizations, and second, they represent the necessary instruments for social recognition. In the latter respect they represent a social necessity.

They are selective and exclusive in that they claim the privilege to elect their own membership; they are self-governed within the limits imposed by general college policy. The second function is often lost amid the privileges of the first.

This conflict between social necessity and selective, exclusive, social blocs has remained, for the greater part, theoretical, that is, until the present.

The "independent-by-necessity" ideally has a greater need of and a greater claim upon social recognition than any other. In practice, and practice is more immediate to man than ideals, if he is placed within a selective unit arbitrarily, he cannot escape the rejection previously expressed against him nor the hostility against his forced enrollment. His problem is enigmatic for either by membership or non-membership he forfeits his claim to social recognition.

The problem is a difficult one. The solution is even more difficult, but an awareness of the basic problem is fundamental to whatever the solution may be, even if it is only a sympathetic acceptance of that awareness.

Sincerely,
Frank R. Merrill
